Recommendation Letter

Anish Chapagain is an extremely active person. I have known him as a student of Management faculty who was equally interested in learning English literature and language. What impresses me the most about him is his attitude towards academic and social behavior.

He has the ability to consciously observe and analyze facts and ideas based on proven standards and at the same time he can generate and express new ideas. I consider such intellectual potential as a way of combining critical with creative faculties to comprehend various concepts and facts. Furthermore, I have observed as his mentor that such mental skills have enabled him to achieve problem-solving abilities. Mr Anish Chapagain has always stood in the front row in class grades and the project report submissions in the fields.

I have offered courses in English literature and language where he has always performed exceptionally well by engaging in classroom debates and discussions. I have recently worked with him in a project assignment on the "Literary Interest of the High School Students" and his active engagement made me realize the potentialities of such a young student even beyond many mature students. I am impressed by his teamwork and her friendly ability to lead a group and come up with suggestions. Mr Anish Chapagain performs exceptionally well in problem solving situations.

He is an amicable person. I found teaching him was a matter of pride for a teacher like me. I recommend him for the program he is applying for without any sense of second thought. I am sure to hint that he is going to be one of the few best performers at your institution.

Please do give him your most thoughtful consideration and feel free to contact me if you would like any further information in this regard.

Best Regards,

Recommendation Letter

Dear Admissions Officer,

I am writing this letter on behalf of Mr Anish Chapagain, a high school graduate at Gomendra Birta Model Secondary School, as I have been well acquainted to him for two years of his most valuable academic study.

During this time, I have found him progressing both academically and personally into a mature individual ready in every way for his high school years. He is bright, energetic, competent, hard working and one of the most extra ordinary students I have encountered in my ten years of academic career. He always came up with innovative and thoughtful solutions to the problems assigned to him by the faculties, which assisted him to become one the best students in her class. As an academic director, I frequently witnessed his interactions with others and found him being a role model of leadership and social service for his peers. He is well respected in the college for his calm, honest and kind qualities. I have seen his handle delicate situations with discretion, and he handles all situations with poise both at leisure and under pressure.

A high school graduate, who has earned my implicit trust and respect, Anish Chapagain would surely be an asset to any university. It is a rare treat to encounter a student as impressive as Anish, and if he gets the opportunity, I am sure he will be one of the rising

Sincerely,

Uttam Khanal
