

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

My name is Alwin Antony, and I am an Indian citizen from Kerala. I come from a family of five. I graduated with a major in Biology and Mathematics in the 12th Grade.

Since childhood, my parents have taught me to take care of my grandparents and to have compassion towards others, which initially led me to choose nursing as my career. However, my growing interest in the broader field of public administration and economics inspired me to pivot towards a new path. After thorough research into various programs, I have decided to pursue a Bachelor's in Economics and Management of Public Administration at the Technical University of Košice. I believe this program will equip me with the essential skills to manage public resources efficiently and contribute positively to public welfare in a professional manner.

I find this course particularly suitable as it emphasizes practical skills in addition to theoretical knowledge. This approach will help me analyse complex administrative and economic situations, take appropriate actions, and improve my critical thinking and decision-making skills, which aligns perfectly with my learning style.

I aim to become a Public Administration Manager, with aspirations to further specialize in specific fields within public administration. By acquiring this education, I will not only be able to manage public resources effectively but also provide valuable information to the public through various platforms, including social media.

I chose the Technical University of Košice because it offers excellent facilities that meet my academic needs. At this university, I will gain real-world experience and expert knowledge from experienced faculty members. The university's focus on a problem-based curriculum will help me solve real-world cases and conduct research, providing me with invaluable exposure. Additionally, the internships offered will enhance my practical experience and significantly bolster my resume.

The Technical University of Košice is renowned for its high-ranking status, well-experienced mentors, modern classrooms, established laboratories, and practical training bases. Moreover, it hosts a large international student community, allowing me to interact with peers from various cultural backgrounds. This diverse environment will promote cultural understanding and adaptability, enriching my academic journey.

I am highly confident that securing this opportunity to study in Slovakia will present me with rewarding opportunities and experiences that will greatly benefit my career. These are the reasons that have led me to choose Slovakia as my study destination.
