TO THE ADMISSIONS OFFICE

I feel blessed to be associated with Hamad Farooque as his Biology teacher for the past two years. He has a cheerful, humble, well disciplined, amicable, and calm personality with a complete package of compassion, and creativity. He is a unique blend of determination, discipline, and a passion for excellence that sets him apart as a student and an individual. Throughout I have seen him consistently demonstrating an unwavering commitment to achieving his goals and outstanding grades throughout. This drive no doubt seems to be instrumental in his success in various fields outside his academics as well.

Academic Highlights

Hamad falls in the list of fast learners who grasps concepts clearly. His reasoning questions in the class mostly takes my leaning objective to a higher level. I have observed that Hamad has an adaptability to any academic situations that arise. Whether it is exams, extra classes or submission deadlines, he is able to keep up to the best work possible. He holds an impressive academic report winning scholar badge for three consecutive years from grades 9-11.

Staying focused towards the dream career

Hamad's intended major in Medicine is driven by a strong desire to make a meaningful impact on society, whether through the precision of healing or the innovation of technology. Throughout his academic journey, he has developed a diverse skill set that I believe will be invaluable for him in addressing the global challenges. Hamad dreams of having a medical center near him as he thinks it is a matter of a mere 10 mins which can change life or death. He also emphasizes the lack of doctors in rural areas and so he wants to give back to the community that raised him.

Areas of impact

Hamad has been engaged in a variety of extracurricular activities. Hamad is a part of school's cricket and basketball team from grades 9-12. These sports definitely have inculcated in him the importance of teamwork and how important it is to recognize one's skill and value in a group so that it can be used to its maximum efficiency. It is all very evident from his attitude in class as well. He is appointed as the vice sports captain for the academic year. I believe he received this post as he has always been a very dedicated member of the sports teams as well as has the creativity and leadership skills to lead any team.

Experience in the intended field of study

During his internship in a hospital, he got to meet the different phases and faces in the lives of the doctors, nurses, hospital management, day, and night shifts along with working at the front desk with the receptionist witnessing different situations. He was garrulous after his shadowing program about how each doctor had a specialty with which they deal and how the organization handles appointments and deals without any sort of mishaps. His long talks resonated his sheer interest and observation in this field.

Personal qualities

I shall always remember Hamad as the student who always smiles and carries around a happy-go-lucky attitude as well as cracking jokes in class to make everyone else laugh and enjoy the class. I shall miss him as any such student that makes a difference in spreading happiness adds on to the positive environment of a classroom.

Final recommendation

I wish him success in his aspirations to pursue Medicine as a career and am confident that he will bring a laurel wherever he goes. I am very proud to recommend him as an invaluable asset for any educational institution that will absorb him. I wish him the very best in all his future endeavors and aspirations. I will be glad to assist you with any additional information you may require.

Sincerely,

Anjum Hasan
