Dear Admissions Committee,

I am writing this statement of purpose to express my strong motivation to pursue a Master in Biochemistry at the Ludwig Maximilians University Munich. My passion for pursuing higher education in Germany stems from the country's long-standing reputation for high academic excellence and emphasis on research. Finally Germany's vibrant culture, technological advancements, make it an exciting place to live and study. I am excited about the prospects of working with renowned professors and researchers in this field at your institution. I believe that the research facilities and resources available in Germany, make it an ideal place to pursue my research interests. As an applicant for MSc in Biochemistry at your university, I would like to provide a brief account of my own interests and ambitions in pursuing the master study in your esteemed University.

My academic achievements reflect my enthusiasm for Science. I would like to present my past performances as my credentials for success in future endeavors. I scored 97.7% in the 10th grade. Then came the phase of higher secondary examination(+2) in which I secured 92.7%. I have completed my Bachelors in Chemistry with 86.7% from Sree Narayana College Kollam. As an interest for studying medicinal science, I opted Human Disease and Management as an Open course in Bsc Chemistry, where I learnt about chronic diseases and the medical approach for the recovery. I strongly believe by learning chemistry I can understand the chemical structure of drugs. This led me to choose Analytical Chemistry as my post graduate course. Etc. As a part of Masters programme, I also did my internship programme from Sree Chithra Institute of Medical Science and Technology, Trivandrum under the supervision of Scientist Dr. Renjith. And I passed my Masters in Analytical Chemistry with 81.1%. As a Chemist Student, I strongly believe by choosing Msc in Biochemistry will provide me a good future in drug discovery.

On careful study of the college, website and its appropriate superiors advising for it, I have found that the post graduate program suits my needs perfectly and active research is in accordance with my interest. Together with its eminent faculty, excellent research facilities, pleasant university ambience and balanced academic program, I feel that your university is the right place to embark upon my post graduate study.

Thank you for the opportunity to express my views. Expecting a favorable consideration and looking forward to being associated with you
