

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

I am Milda Rachel Mathew, hailing from the scenic town of Kattappana in the state of Kerala, India. I am part of a close-knit family of four, where my father is an agriculturalist, my mother lovingly manages our home, my sister is already settled with her husband, and have a little boy. From a young age, I've nurtured an unwavering aspiration—to become a social worker. This dream has been a constant beacon, guiding my choices and fueling my determination. The prospect of caring for others in their times of vulnerability and making a genuine difference in their lives is a calling that resonates deeply with me. I am driven by the desire to provide comfort, support, and healing to those in need, and I believe that a career as a social worker will allow me to embody this purpose to the fullest. My journey toward becoming a social worker is not just a career path; it's a commitment to embody compassion, resilience, and empathy. With a heart dedicated to service, I am excited to embrace the challenges and rewards that come with this noble profession, and I am determined to contribute meaningfully to the well-being of individuals and the community as a whole.

I'm dedicated to providing personalized and empathetic care to each and every person, ensuring their physical and emotional well-being. Additionally, I am committed to staying updated on the latest methods to develop a society and continuously improving my skills to deliver the highest quality possible. My goal is to create a safe and comforting environment where people feel valued, supported, and empowered throughout their lives. Certainly! Pursuing a career in international social work has always intrigued me, especially after hearing from lots of experts. The idea of making a meaningful impact on human lives through compassionate care and serving the disadvantaged community fuels my desire to become a social worker.

Pursuing an International Social Work degree at Hans University of Applied Sciences in the Netherlands would be a great opportunity to achieve my dream. The university is known for its quality education and rich cultural environment, as well as for helping empower careers. Studying social work there would not only provide me with valuable knowledge and skills but also allow me to immerse myself in the beauty of the HAN University of Applied Sciences.

Studying in the Netherlands is a dream of mine, as it combines my passion for service with the allure of culture. The opportunity to immerse myself in the traditions of the Netherlands while pursuing a social work degree is truly exciting to me. Studying and exploring the social work profession in the Netherlands can provide a rich and diverse experience. I am eager to learn from their advanced way of doing international social work and contribute well to society as well. This journey will not only expand my skills but also allow me to engage with diverse people, learn from accomplished professionals, and build a global network that will enhance my social work career prospects.

As I reflect on the purpose of pursuing a bachelor's at the HAN University of Applied Sciences Netherlands, I am confident that it will not only shape my career but also enable me to make a meaningful impact on the well-being of individuals and communities. I possess strong interpersonal and communication skills that I believe are essential for effective interactions. I genuinely enjoy working with people from diverse backgrounds and believe in treating each individual with empathy, respect, and dignity. I am a compassionate and patient person, and I strive to provide holistic care that addresses not only the physical but also the emotional and psychological needs of people. By pursuing a bachelor's degree in social work at the HAN University of Applied Sciences in the Netherlands. I aim to acquire a comprehensive understanding of the theoretical foundations of social work as well as develop practical skills through field experiences. I am eager to learn about evidence-based practice, mental and health promotion, and psychological developments that will empower me to deliver high-quality care to individuals and communities. Furthermore, I am excited about the opportunity to collaborate with fellow students who share a similar passion for social work. I believe that the diversity of perspectives and experiences within the student body will enrich my learning journey and broaden my understanding of social services on a global scale.

In conclusion, I am confident that the HAN University of Applied Sciences in the Netherlands is the ideal institution to nurture my passion for social work and provide me with the knowledge and skills necessary to become a competent and compassionate person. I am committed to dedicating myself wholeheartedly to my studies and making a meaningful contribution to the field of social service. Thank you for considering my application, and I look forward to the opportunity to join the esteemed Bachelor International Social Work Degree at HAN University of Applied Sciences in the Netherlands. Please find my complete application materials enclosed, and I hope that my profile is good enough for the university. I hope for a positive response soon.

Thanks and Regards

Milda Rachel Mathew