

Statement of Purpose

Master in Economics

Università di Pisa

- Introduction

The intricate dance between economic forces and societal progress has always captivated me. Witnessing the impact of economic policies on development fuels my desire to gain a deeper understanding of these dynamics. My academic background, coupled with my work experience, has instilled in me a strong foundation in financial management and analytical thinking. Now, I seek to elevate my knowledge at Università di Pisa's esteemed Master in Economics program.

- Education Background & Professional Experience

My Bachelor of Commerce degree from Savitribai Phule Pune University (India) provided a solid foundation in economic theory and quantitative methods. Additionally, my experience as a Finance Manager at Sky Marketing honed my analytical skills and problem-solving abilities. Notably, I actively participated in supplier negotiations, highlighting my ability to analyze market trends and make strategic decisions.

- Why Italy and Università di Pisa

Italy's rich economic history and its position at the heart of the European Union offer a unique environment to pursue a Master's degree in Economics. The opportunity to learn from renowned faculty at Università di Pisa, known for its excellence in economic research, is particularly appealing. Additionally, the program's emphasis on applied econometrics and development economics aligns perfectly with my desire to acquire practical tools for analyzing real-world economic issues.

- Motive to Return to India

While eager to gain a global perspective, my ultimate goal is to return to India and contribute to its economic growth. The program's focus on comparative economic systems and emerging markets will equip me to bridge the gap between international economic theory and the Indian context. Upon returning, I envision myself working in economic policy development and as a financial researcher and contributing to India's economic progress.

- Conclusion

My strong academic background, analytical skills, and dedication to economic development make me a valuable addition to your program. I am confident that my experience, coupled with the esteemed education offered by Università di Pisa, will equip me to excel in the field of economics and ultimately contribute to India's economic prosperity.

Sincerely

Ameer Hamza Nouman Memon.
