

Statement of Purpose

My name is Ihsaj Bava Azis, an Indian student, and I completed my 12th grade in 2024 with a 50% overall score under the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) curriculum. My 10th-grade results in 2022, where I scored 91%, demonstrate my academic capabilities and commitment. Despite the challenges I faced during my 12th-grade studies, I have consistently been driven by my desire to engage with global issues and contribute to a better understanding between nations. This passion has led me to apply for the 3-year Bachelor's program in International Relations at Vistula University in Warsaw, Poland.

My interest in International Relations is rooted in my fascination with global politics, diplomacy, and the complex web of interactions between countries. The world today is more interconnected than ever before, with international issues like trade, security, climate change, and human rights becoming critical topics of discussion. I want to understand the nuances of these issues and contribute meaningfully to global cooperation. Through this program, I seek to gain the skills and knowledge necessary to participate in shaping international policies and fostering peaceful relationships between nations.

Why Vistula University?

Vistula University stood out to me because of its world-class faculty, a diverse student body, and a strong reputation for academic excellence in International Relations. The university offers a unique blend of theoretical education and practical experience, ensuring that students are well-prepared for real-world challenges. The International Relations program at Vistula University emphasizes subjects like international diplomacy, foreign policy analysis, global governance, and international law. I am particularly excited about the opportunity to study these topics from a global perspective, as Vistula University attracts students from across the world. This diversity will not only broaden my understanding of international relations but also enable me to gain insights from multiple cultural viewpoints.

The program also offers a multidisciplinary approach, incorporating elements of politics, economics, sociology, and law. This holistic approach will enable me to understand how different fields influence international relations and how global issues can be addressed through a combination of political diplomacy, legal frameworks, and economic policies. In addition, Vistula University's strong ties with international organizations and global institutions mean that students have the opportunity to engage with professionals working in the field, providing invaluable exposure to real-world challenges and solutions.

Why Poland?

Choosing Poland as my destination for higher education was an easy decision. Poland has grown significantly in recent years as an attractive location for international students, offering high-quality education at affordable costs. Located at the heart of Europe, Poland's rich history, cultural diversity, and its important role in European and international affairs make it a prime location for studying International Relations. With its strategic geographical location, Poland serves as a bridge between Western and Eastern Europe, making it an ideal setting for students looking to understand the complexities of international diplomacy.

Warsaw, in particular, is a hub for international business, diplomacy, and cultural exchange, hosting numerous embassies, international organizations, and multinational corporations. Living and studying in Warsaw will provide me with first-hand experience of the political and economic processes that shape international relations. Furthermore, Poland's low cost of living compared to other European countries allows students to enjoy a high standard of living without excessive financial burden. This makes it an ideal place for students like me who want to experience life in a major European city while staying within a reasonable budget.

Program Benefits and Learning Outcomes

The Bachelor's program in International Relations at Vistula University is designed to prepare students for a wide range of careers in the field of global politics and diplomacy. One of the key features of the program is its emphasis on practical skills development, including analytical thinking, negotiation, and problem-solving. The program will enable me to develop a comprehensive understanding of international relations and global governance structures. Courses on diplomacy, international law, foreign policy, and security studies will allow me to critically analyse global issues and explore the intricacies of multilateral diplomacy and international cooperation.

Vistula University's career development services will be a valuable resource in helping me identify potential career paths and secure internships during my studies. Internships and fieldwork are a key part of the curriculum, and I hope to take advantage of opportunities to work with non-governmental organizations (NGOs), international institutions, and diplomatic missions. These experiences will help me build a professional network and gain real-world insights into the workings of global organizations.

Career Opportunities

The field of International Relations offers diverse and exciting career opportunities. Upon completing my degree, I plan to return to India to pursue a career in diplomatic services, foreign policy analysis, or international organizations. The skills I will acquire from Vistula University—ranging from understanding global politics to mastering diplomatic negotiation—will enable me to contribute to the development of my country's foreign policy and its role in global affairs. India's increasing importance on the world stage makes it an exciting time to work in international relations, and I hope to contribute to my country's efforts to promote peace, development, and cooperation across borders.

In addition to diplomatic services, there are numerous other career paths I could pursue, such as working with international organizations like the United Nations (UN), World Trade Organization (WTO), or the European Union (EU). I could also work with non-governmental organizations (NGOs) focused on human rights, global development, and conflict resolution. The comprehensive education I will receive at Vistula University will provide me with the skills and knowledge to work in a variety of roles, helping to shape international policies, promote peace and security, and address global challenges.

Future Plans

After earning my degree in International Relations, I plan to return to India and pursue a career in the Indian Foreign Service (IFS) or join an international organization where I can apply my skills in diplomacy and global governance. I also aim to participate in initiatives that foster international cooperation and promote global peace. My long-term goal is to play a meaningful role in India's foreign policy development and contribute to the creation of strong, peaceful, and mutually beneficial relationships between nations.

In conclusion, the Bachelor's program in International Relations at Vistula University offers the perfect combination of academic rigor, practical experience, and a supportive learning environment. It will equip me with the tools to understand the complexities of international politics and diplomacy, and prepare me for a successful career in the field. Poland's rich history, vibrant culture, and pivotal role in European and global affairs make it the ideal setting for pursuing my academic and professional goals. I am confident that my time at Vistula University will be both rewarding and transformative, helping me to achieve my aspirations.
